INVESTIGATING THE CHARGES AGAINST

A REPORTER SAYS HE WITNESSED GAMBLING UN THE HOUSE IN THIRTY-FIRST-ST -DE-

NIALS OF THE CAPTAIN, ALDER-

MAN PARKS, AND OTHERS. For the third time since he earned a gold sale'd, West Thirty-seventh-st, station, Inspector Williams's old ward detective and district sergeant, was placed on trial before the Police Commissioners at Headquarters yesterday on charges made by Superintendent Byrnes. The complaint was neglect of duty in permitting a gambling house to be operated in his precinct, and failing to repress the same. The charges grew out of a newspaper exposure of a gambling den at No. 345 West Thirty-first-st. It said that Alderman Parks owns the property and was interested in the game. Commissioners Martin, Murray and Sheehan sat Commissioners Martin, Murfay and Sheehan sat in judgment at the trial, Mr. McClave, who is still ill, being absent. Louis J. Grant appeared for Captain Price, and Fred House was present looking after the interest of Alderman Parks. Assistant Corporation Counsel Blandy conducted the prosecusion for the the Commissioner.

Superintendent Byrnes was called as the first witness. He said his attention had been called by a newspaper article to the existence of an adegel gambling house at the place mentioned. Under directions of the Board of Police he made an investigation. Florence E. Sullivan, a reporter, made affidavit that a gambling house was operated at No. 345 West Thirty-first-st., and the Superintendent brought charges against the Captain. Mr. Byrnes had also directed Inspector McAvoy to make an shortly after 11 o'clock and was sworn. In answer to Mr. Blandy's questions he replied that he knew the premises No. 345 West Thirty-first-st., and the premises No. 345 West Thirty-historic, and visited them on June 2. Sullivan testified that he visited the house about 1.45 a. m., June 2. In the rear room he saw a roulette wheel, which was not in use at the time. While he was there a man who was called Meyers bought some checks and played.

Mr. Sullivan swore that he also bought cheeks and played. Another besides himself played roulette. The witness said the man who turned the wheel was "Lou" Lyman, an attaché of the establishment. Lyman also sold checks and paid the bets. There was also a man named E. M. Scholes present. who seemed to belong to the place.

Under cross-examination Sullivan stated that on the night of June 1 he received instructions from his city editor to go to the corner of Seventh-ave, and Twenty-third-st, where he would meet a man who was a stranger to him. In Lailey's barroom, on the corner, he met the man whom he had been sent to see. "Abe" Heyman, alias "Jew Abe." was the man's name. Heyman told witness that there was a gambling house at No. 34 West Thirty-first-st., and advised him to go there between 10:30 and 11 o'clock, when he could get in. Heyman told Sullivan he when he could get in. Heyman told Sullivan he would find the men Lyman and Scholes there, and also a man known as "Paddy the Gambler." would find the men Lyman and Scale also a man known as "Paddy the Gambler." Suilivan said he supposed Heyman gave the "tip" to his office because he wanted some money. He has not seen Heyman since.

Mr. Grant asked the witness if it was not a fact that the gambling devices which he had seen in the house had been piaced there by a prearithe some of making trouble for Captain Price and at purpose of making trouble for Captain Price and at purpose of making trouble for Captain Price and at No. 36 West Thirty-first-st., in Price's precinct, "pulled." Some one signing himself "A Sincere Friend" sent a letter to Captain Price, telling him about Heyman's boast and that Heyman had been talking with a newspaper man. Mr. Suilivan had no k nowledge of how the letter came to be written. The witness was then excused, and Mr. Grant moved that the charge against Captain Price be dismissed. The motion was denied and Captain Price was sworn in his defence.

The captain testified that the first information he had that gambling had been carried on at No. 345 West Thirty-first-st. was in the forenoon of June 2, when he received an anonymous letter calling his attention to the boast made by the man Heyman had been sent for by Inspector McAvoy, and he had to go to Headquarters. When he returned to the station-house he donned his citizen's clothes and went out to make a personal investigation. When he reached the house in Thirty-first-st. he went in and inspected it from cellar to roof. He met Alderman Parks there. The latter told him he owned the house. A Mrs. Thompson lived there, and the only persons the members of her family. Schill reported to the captain that he could find nothing wrong in the house members of her family. Schill reported to the captain that he could find nothing wrong in the house members of her family. Schill reported to the captain of the s members of her lamby. State the house tain that he could find nothing wrong in the house. The captain on Monday, June 4, was directed to make a written report to the Superintendent about the house mentioned. He made the report setting forth that no gambing house existed there.

Mr. Blandy asked the captain if he knew who the writer of the anonymous let er was, and whether he regarded the communication as a "tip." Price declared he did not know the author of the letter. "I would give a year's salary to find out who wrote that letter," said the captain. "I do not regard it as a 'tip, 'as I do not helieve that the house was used for gambling."

In reply to Commissioner Murray's question, Captain Price said he was informed by Mrs. Thompson, the landiady of the house, that the parior foor had been rented to two men, but she had put them out. They left before the night on which Sullivan testified he gambled there.

Alderman Parks next took the stand. He said he lived at No. 34' West Thirty-first-st. The Alderman said No. 35' could not have been used as a gambling house without his knowing it. Alderman Parks admitted that while he was ignorant of the character of the men who had rented the rooms on the parlor floor he had told Mr. Stone, Mrs. Thompson's father, that if there was anything wrong he would have to get rid of the tenants.

Several other witnesses awore they never saw anything improper at the house.

William Meyers, who said he lived at No. 168 West One-hundred-and-skty-eighth-st, was called to the stand. He is the man who Sullivan alleged was present in the gambling-house on the night of his visit there. Meyers testified that he went to No. 35' West Thirty-first-st, up to might of his visit there, was to see a friend of Mr. Lyman about some property which he (Meyers) owns at Ashury Park, and which was about to be foreclosed. Meyers said he was in the house from parior of No. 345 West Thirty-first-st, up to within a few days ago. He swore there was no truth in the renort that any gambling was canreled on th cards.

The trial was adjourned until Thursday.

-HIS COMPANION ESCAPED. George Harriman, twenty-four years old, who says he is a stonecutter, living at No. 115 Division-st., all of which is believed to be false, was taken to Police Headquarters about 1:30 o'clock yester-lay by Policeman Apple, of the Broadway Squad. About 5 o'clock A. Bottleib, manufacturer of furs at No. 169 Greene-st., told Podceman Apple, who was at Houston-st. and Broadway, that his place was being robbed. Apple went to Hottlelb's store, and in front of the place found a licensed render-wagon, No. 9,249. On the wagon, preparing to drive away, was Harriman. As soon as he saw the officer Harriman sprang from the wagon and darted down Greene-st. Apple pursued him, and after a short chase captured the burgiar. Harriman showed fight, but after a short struggle the officer took him back to Bottlieb's store, where it was found that a partner of the prisoner had It was found that a partner of the prisoner had escaped from the building during the excitement. Harriman and the wason on which he had loaded ten sealskin sacques, four coonskin capes and one lambs' wool wrap, were taken to Police Headquarters. Inspector McLaughlin at once recognized him as an old-time "crook," who had robbed a store in the same manner some years ago.

The place broken into was on the second floor of the building. The thieves had forced a big padick from the door and were carrying off the stock when a boy who is employed in another part of the building saw what was going on and gave the alarm. Harriman was locked up in Police Headquarters and will be arraigned in court to-day.

Yung Fung keeps a laundry between One-hun dred-and-first-st. and One-hundred-and-second-st. in Third-ave. Among his customers is Policeman Frank S. Donigan, of the Union Market station, who has taken his washing there for some two Yesterday morning Donigan arraigned his laundryman before Justice Kech in the Essex Market Police Court on a charge of assault. The officer states that occasionally Fung has given him collars that belonged to other people, but that the mistakes have always been rectified. 11:15 yesterday morning he went in fer his goods and took them to his home, No. 225 East One-hundred-and-first-st. An hour later, when he went to put on a collar, he found that the Chinaman had again made a mistake. He returned to the place and requested Yung Fung to change the collar-Then, he alleges, the defendant refused to look for the right collars, and threw those he brought back there to get his goods. Shortly after and threatened to arrest Fung unless he gave him better collars. The latter said he could not do so, as those he had given him belonged to him. Then, he alleges, the officer caught him by the queue, dragged him around the shop and brutally assumited him, and when he tried to defend himself placed him under arrest. Fung was defended by Francis J. Moore, of No. 98 Nassaues. He was engaged by the rector of the Churen of the Holy Trinty, at Forty-second-st, and Madison-ave, to watch his interests.

AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

ARRESTED ON THE CHARGE OF ARSON. A BELIEF THAT THE EXPLOSION WHICH PARTLY WRECKED THE TWO HOUSES IN SOUTH THIRD-ST. WAS NOT DUE TO GAS-MR. AND MRS. SIEGAL IN JAIL.

A deep mystery seems to surround the origin of the explosion which blew out the right side of the upper floor of the four-story brick double apartmentand wrecked the two-story brick building, No. 381, adjoining, by the falling masonry and bricks. Yesterday morning the police of the Fifth Precinct arrested Jacob Siegal, his wife and mother on suspicton of arson. The prisoners were taken before nd Siegal and his wife were committed to jail in default of ball for examination on Saturday. The elder Mrs. Siegal was paroled. Siegal lived on the floor where the explosion occurred, and is employed as a sidesman for Louis Schachne & Brothers, deal-ers in underwear and notions at No. 15 Walker-st. wife and mother and two-year-old niece being in the house. Since the explosion, the police say, Mrs. Slegal has told two or three contradictory stories. She first sold that the explosion was due to escaping gas, and later that she dropped a kerosene lamp while looking in a closet. When closely questioned the woman became excited and began to cry. Yesterday Fire Marshal Lewis visited the house and made a careful examination. What the result of his investigation was could not be learned last night. Little doubt is now placed in the original story told the polles by Mrs. Slegal. They believe that the wrsck was caused by something more than gas, and it was this belief that led to the arrest of herself, husband and mother-in-law.

District Engineer James Maguire, of the Brooklyn Fire Department, who was the first to appear at the place after the alarm had been sent in, told a repartment when they said they were list thought the explosion had never been caused by gas. "Mrs. Slegal or her muther-in-law and niece never could have escaped alive, he added, had they been in the apartments when they said they were." He thought the explosion must have been due to dynamite.

When the husband of Mrs. Slegal was taken into custody he told the pelier that he was not an Angarents and had no explosives in his house. He was unable to account for the explosion.

Mrs. Slegal, when arraigned in court, was still suffering severe pain from the burns which she received she still sticks to the story that the explosion was due to gas, although she admitted that she had not detected any odor. There is no gas on the floor which the Slegals occupied, and only two lights were burning in the hall at the time-one on the first floor and the other on the third floor. Mrs. Annie Johnson, who lives at No. 33, is in a dangerous condition at her home, suffering from shock. She was alone in her apartments when the explosion occurred.

Our hat-man says we have the bed straw hats we ever had. We picked out the straw-braids early; got on the right side of the maker, and he put he best men on our hats.

Now an ordinary man can't tell good straw hat from a bad one; and being an ordinary man, which'll you do? go to the fashionable hatter, pay him $5 for a first-rate straw hat; or ge to the average hatter and get a poor Hinde (Er), Douglas, sailed from Hull for one for a good deal less? or will you

Our best English split yacht, stiff brim ($3) is as good as anybody's; so is our best Mackinaw soft brim ($2.50), our lowest-price straw hat ($1)worth a dollar.

Fabrics.

Among the newest light-weight fabrics are the linen-finished dimities in light blue, pink, green, and natural linen color grounds, striped with fine white cords, Slightly heavier in weight, but equally attractive are the French Brilliants in solid shades of red, navy, light blue, and pink, as well at plain white and black, and these grounds printed in Dresden effects.

For outing gowns, striped and plain Galateas, plain and fancy linen Ducks and Drills, and Brown Linens are in greatest demand. All these and many other desiroble washing materials, such as dotted Swiss, Printed and White India Dimities, Printed and White Linen Lawns, Percales, Chev. iots, Fancy Ginghams, &c., are shown in very large assortment by
